

Early Journal Content on JSTOR, Free to Anyone in the World

This article is one of nearly 500,000 scholarly works digitized and made freely available to everyone in the world by JSTOR.

Known as the Early Journal Content, this set of works include research articles, news, letters, and other writings published in more than 200 of the oldest leading academic journals. The works date from the mid-seventeenth to the early twentieth centuries.

We encourage people to read and share the Early Journal Content openly and to tell others that this resource exists. People may post this content online or redistribute in any way for non-commercial purposes.

Read more about Early Journal Content at <http://about.jstor.org/participate-jstor/individuals/early-journal-content>.

JSTOR is a digital library of academic journals, books, and primary source objects. JSTOR helps people discover, use, and build upon a wide range of content through a powerful research and teaching platform, and preserves this content for future generations. JSTOR is part of ITHAKA, a not-for-profit organization that also includes Ithaka S+R and Portico. For more information about JSTOR, please contact support@jstor.org.

TULIP WARE OF THE PENNSYLVANIA-GERMAN POTTERS

SGRAFFITO DISH

Made by George Hübner, 1786

(From "Tulip Ware of the Pennsylvania-German Potters.")

A special edition of Tulip Ware of the Pennsylvania-German Potters, limited to 300 numbered and signed copies, was printed on heavy paper with extra large margins and untrimmed edges and handsomely bound in cloth with special cover designs. A few of these copies remain unsold and will be furnished to subscribers at $5.00 a copy.

This work, by the Curator of the Museum, treats of the most curious and interesting phase of the potters art in America, covering the period between 1730 and 1850. The book is illustrated with nearly 100 half-tone engravings and two full-page color plates. It is based on the unique collection of early slip decorated and sgraffito wares of Eastern Pennsylvania, which is exhibited in this Museum. The accompanying illustration will convey some idea of the great charm of this curious art.